Get Your Timing Right

While no one expects you to be perfectly punctual on your wedding day, being half an hour late for the ceremony is sure to make your guests uncomfortable.

Try and start the ceremony on time, and keep the time between the Ceremony and Reception reasonable.

Don't Let Your Guests Go Hungry

After your ceremony, your guests will likely want something to snack on before the reception. Be sure to have snacks or canapés on offer.

Getting Married

Provide Some Entertainment

Entertainment doesn't have to mean big budget. Small and simple touches can provide something for guests to do. This might be as simple as lawn games or live music, or as unconventional as Carnival stalls. Think outside the box and keep the entertainment within your theme.

Keep Your Guests In The Loop

While we love weddings that include elements of surprise, guests like to know what the general timing & plan is. Use your program to give a general timeline of the day, and include things like the bouquet and garter toss so guests don't miss out! If you're having a cash bar, make sure you let everyone know in advance so that they can ensure they have made provisions.
